JUNE

According to a recent monitoring of raw milk prices, as of June 15, the situation remains unchanged — prices continue to move in the side corridor. However, the heat and the revival of demand may push processing plants to raise prices in the end of June.

The average price of extra grade milk is 10.1 UAH/kg, the highest grade — 9.57 UAH/kg, the first grade — at the level of 8.92 UAH/kg. The weighted average price of three grades is UAH 9.53/kg.

The regional situation with prices for extra grade has not changed since the previous monitoring: in the western region — UAH 9.50–9.80/kg; in the eastern — 9.7–9.90 UAH/kg; in the northern — UAH 9.80–10.15/kg, in the southern — UAH 9.7–10.30/kg, in the central — UAH 10.0–10.15/kg.

Towards the end of June — beginning of July, prices will start to rise, and it is likely that the highest and the first grades will be the first to react, which have lost the most this year (especially the first grade, which price reached last year's values).
